

A Document On The Outline Of Merit, Function, And Their Exceptions, Application, And Theory

Kevin A. Sensenig Draft 1.01 2026 April 16 Thursday

Introduction

This diagrammatic-thinking outline may help us to connect on the Merit A, B, C and Function A, B, C, and their Exceptions, per individual, situation, society, and WeSH.

Outline

Merit A, B, C and Function A, B, C

Those positive, constructive, realism, dimension, boundless, beneficial, shared, merit, function, states, stillness, enaction, integration reflections, responses, facets, features, elements, totality.

Their Exceptions

Exceptions, faults, demerit, dysfunction.

Not any of these

Comments

These all should be on the table as a matter of routine treatment team enunciated and clarity treatment, discussion, or dialogue, with the individual participant. This fact and initiative is of course subjective and present – of each treatment team and the individual. So it is an ongoing process and development. The pictures and treatment, discussion, and dialogue are perhaps of an initial state situated then an ongoing deeper resolution, process, and development.

This helps give respect to the actual individual, to society, to the state, to the treatment team, to the real fact and dimension and vector of this. It is a key to the possibilities of human, connected, contextualized, dimension life and fact. It is not a guarantee: it is a possibility and actual place, space, and approach.

A further treatment, discussion, or dialogue element, fact, or possibility may be on the basis of merit A, B, C and so on: why and where and what this or that. And each of these may be on the basis of why and where and what! Which then point to....the mystery and magic and realism of an individual and shared and total boundless world. And this is also given that each point, element, and totality is then what it is to the extent it is such, all things are equality, each point, element, and totality is just what it is... and this reflects ____ . It is always ongoing.